

J. F. FERGUSON AGAIN ELECTED ASC CHAIRMAN

New ASC Board
To Take Office
In Morgan Feb. 1

Joe Frank Ferguson, Grassy Creek farmer, was elected for the second time this year as chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at a meeting of the new community committee here last Friday.

Mr. Ferguson was elected by the unanimous vote of the six community committeemen present. One committeeman, Walter Riggsby of the Warlick community, did not attend the meeting.

Others elected on the county ASC committee for 1957 are: Ben Cox of Pomphrey, vice chairman; Joe Jenkins of Silverhill, regular member; Henry Day of Lenox, first alternate; and Ray Blair of Zag, second alternate.

Election of the county committee took place the day after special community elections were held in four of the seven community areas of the county because the elections of Nov. 26 were contested.

Community chairmen present and taking part in organizing the county committee were: John Elam of the Cannel City community; Paul Gevedon of the Grassy Creek community; Tommie Oldfield of the West Liberty community; Leonard Holbrook of the Leno community; Ralph Hamilton of the Dump community; and Hollie Pieratt, first alternate of the Ezel community who was substituting for Marjorie Fanning, community chairman, who was ill.

The new county ASC committee will officially take over control of the county ASC office Feb. 1.

Joe Frank Ferguson, the new county chairman, originally was elected county chairman Nov. 27 and took office the next Monday. Because of contests filed in four community elections, these were ordered by the State ASC office re-run, and the old county committee took over again until the elections were settled.

Through an interpreter, a charter was issued under the French Dispensation and was issued July 24, 1850. On Jan. 14, 1857, the King of Hawaii was initiated and served as master of the lodge 1859-61 and 62. In 1905 it became No. 371 under jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of California.

TOBACCO SALES PASS LAST YEAR BY 33 MILLION

Kentucky burley tobacco growers are already $33,000,000 richer than at this time a year ago, and they still have a few million pounds to sell.

At the close of sales Friday Kentucky growers had received $206,056,988 for their 1956 crop. At this time a year ago their receipts totaled $172,658,824.

The State Department of Agriculture reported sales of the 1956 crop total 321,105,528 pounds—about 31,000,000 pounds more than the 290,075,665 pounds sold to this time a year ago.

The average paid for the 1956 crop is now $64.17 a hundred pounds, $4.69 higher than the average of $59.48 at this time last year.

Sales last year in its three days totaled 39,913,666 pounds at an average of $64.80. That is $5.12 higher than the $59.68 average of $64.80. That is $5.12 higher than the $59.68 average in the first week of sales following the 1955 holiday sales shutdown.

Department officials have said they believe a sharp break in volume will come between today and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the Federal-State Market News Service said marketing of the present crop is winding up rapidly in the remainder of the eight-state burley area.

The service said average prices by grades were mostly steady to a little lower as compared with the week before Christmas.

Gross sales in the belt for the period Jan. 2-4 totaled 53,168,085 pounds and averaged $64.06—up 22 cents from the last week of sales.

SHEEP AND CATTLE DISCUSSED AT MEET IN W. LIBERTY 10TH

Morgan county sheep and beef cattle farmers attended a meeting held by the Morgan county agent Thursday in the R.E.A. building.

George Pendergrass, University of Kentucky Extension Specialist, told the group that the most serious problem in cow and calf plan, fat calf and feeder calf production was putting too light weight calves on the market. A feeder calf should weigh 400 pounds and a grass and milk fat calf should weigh 600 pounds or over. The solution is to get cows in line for early calving. An 18% increase in gain was possible by using three cents worth of the hormone dretlylthibestrol, commonly called stibestrol, either implanted in the ear or fed in a ready mixed protein supplement.

R. C. Miller, sheep specialist, told the group that all Morgan county sheep farmers had been successful with their flocks.

He said that every experiment showed that sheep and cattle together on a farm made more profit than either one alone. He said that 20,000 sheep had been brought into Eastern Kentucky since the pilot project was begun three years ago. The average ewe, he said, produces a gross return of $25.00 to $30.00 yearly.

Morgan county could easily have a half-million dollar income from sheep and still keep all of the other enterprises such as beef cattle on the farms, he told the group.

Attending the meeting were the following: M. T. Williams, West Liberty; Hager, Ray and John Cundiff, Grassy Creek; Tommy Oldfield, White Oak; Geo. Hamilton and Woodrow Fugate, Mize; Byron Lewis, Mize; Cummings Fugate, Joe Frank Ferguson, Burden Ross and Frank Gevedon of Grassy Creek; Richard Brown of Wrigley.

A number of these men have as many as fifty ewes and several lambs. It also appears that the men who have been raising sheep for the last few years are making profits and are increasing their flocks.

DEVILS SPLIT 2 CONTESTS

By Wallace Cantrell Jr.

The Morgan Blue Devils gained a very decisive revenge here Friday night by handing the Salersville Hornets a 77-59 defeat. Salersville, which is always tough on their home floor, had defeated the Devils earlier in the season.

The two teams waged a typical Salersville-Morgan County battle for three quarters when the Devils caught fire to go on to win by 18 points.

Morgan led at half-time 42-35. They began to work the ball in close and step up their drive in the second half, however, to gain a comfortable lead. Coach Nickell substituted his reserves in the final minutes and gave his regulars a rest.

Morgan was paced by Darrell Wheeler with 21 points, Darrell Pelfrey and Bobby Rose 14 each, and Billy Bailey with 13 points.

The Devils suffered their second defeat of the season to Sandy Hook's rugged Lions here Tuesday night.

Morgan trailed seven points at half time, but the great height of Sandy Hook was too much for them, as Coach Linville's five began to hit the nets.

This was the largest crowd of the season with the hometown fans not having much to cheer about, as they saw the Devils go down to 77-64 defeat.

Darrell Wheeler led with 24 points, followed by Billy Bailey with 17. Sandy Hook was paced by Manning with 22, Green 18, with Banks and Rice collecting 10 points each.

The Devils now possess a seven win-ten loss record. They will play host to Lee County Friday night, with the first game getting under way at 6:30.

Ratliff Named County Agricultural Chairman

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 7.—W. G. Ratliff, cashier, Commercial Bank at West Liberty, has been appointed County Agricultural Chairman for Morgan county according to an announcement by John G. Russell, Paducah, President of the Kentucky Bankers Association. The appointment is effective immediately and is for the year 1957.

County agricultural chairmen are the official representatives of the Kentucky Bankers Association in 4-H clubs and FFA chapters, and cooperation with farm leaders and agencies in holding educational tours, field days and achievement meetings. Besides engaging in many locally sponsored farm activities the agricultural chairmen aid in coordinating and adapting the program of the State Bankers Association to the needs and conditions of their counties.

The committee has been particularly active during recent years in forestry, soil conservation and pasture projects. This year the committee will again put emphasis on developing local programs in cooperation with state and federal agencies to aid the farmers to meet the "squeeze" now confronting agriculture.

The Kentucky Bankers Association has gained national recognition for its agricultural program. In 1956, for the 17th consecutive year, it was awarded the "Agricultural Award" based upon its accomplishments in the field of agriculture.

Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting. All worthwhile suggestions will be given careful consideration.

Members of the four committees are—

Industrial—Stanley Blair and Curtis Elliott
Agricultural—Glenn Lacy and Hobart Cassidy
Educational—Elmer Anderson and Earl W. Kinner
Sociological—Rev. James Norsworthy and Miss Mattie Griggsby.

WELL-LAID PLANS FOILED BY BANK GUARD AND POSSE

Sheriff Is Wounded
By Machinegun In
Wolfe Street Battle

A well-planned attempt to rob the Farmers & Traders Bank in Campton early Sunday morning by at least three former convicts was foiled by the gunfire of a night watchman sleeping in the bank and by Tuesday afternoon all three convicts had been arrested—but not until a wild gun battle had taken place on the streets of Campton in which Wolfe County Sheriff George G. Little was mowed down by machinegun bullets in his legs, County Supt. Taylor Booth was robbed of his automobile which the robbers used as a get-away car, and two of the robbers were severely wounded.

Meanwhile, Campton early this week was the focal point of some six F.B.I. agents, 20 State policemen and numbers of local officers from Wolfe and nearby counties. Also, scores of Wolfe county farmers armed themselves and formed posses that tracked down the robbers before they could get out of the county.

First to be arrested was Don R. Scott, 25, a laboratory technician of Liberty, Casey county, who surrendered meekly on Monday morning after a posse surrounded a farm home on Pine Ridge where he had stayed all night after saying, "I'm freezing to death."

The other two, John Paul Scott, brother of Don, and Earl Franklin Morris, 35, of Ponca City, Okla., were kicked out of a fodder shock on Harold Alexander's farm near Sky Bridge Tuesday by a posse of farmers and officers. They were nearly frozen and taken to a hospital in Lexington.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Little was taken to a Lexington hospital where his condition was described as serious. Doctors feared that he may have to have one leg amputated. Machinegun bullets struck both legs just above the knee joint.

Don Scott was taken to jail at Jackson. All three were placed under three charges.

The shooting on the streets took place in front of George Hatton's home about 1:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

ADMIT ROBBERY IN 1955

CAMPTON, Ky., Jan. 8.—J. Paul Scott, arrested today on a bank-burglary charge in a foiled break-in Sunday at the Farmers and Traders Bank here, told officers he and his brother broke into the same bank Dec. 20, 1955, and took some $2,400.

Commonwealth's Atty. Douglas Graham said Scott had admitted the previous incident and that in addition Earl Franklin Morris, who was arrested at the same time, said Don and J. Paul Scott had told him they committed the burglary.

At least one of the would-be safecrackers was wounded by an ex-paratrooper who was guarding the bank inside, and another of the four or more men believed involved in the break-in was hit from behind by a shotgun blast as he raced for a getaway car.

Officers worked with a large pile of clues, chiefly safe-cracking equipment and bloody clothing left behind by the intruders or found in an abandoned automobile several miles from Campton. Included were three full sub-machine gun magazines of .45-caliber shells ejected from the machine gun.

Bank Guard Awakened

Chronologically, officers pieced the story together this way: D. B. Stone, 22, guard at the Farmers and Traders Bank, was awakened as he slept on a cot in an inner room by noise from the direction of a small restroom at the rear of the bank's back room.

He grabbed his pistol, a 9 mm Luger (P-38), and went to the door to the back room in time to see the restroom door open and a light shine through. "Then it (the door) closed again. I fired in the direction of the door. Something fell to the floor and a man started groaning," Stone related.

Stone then left the bank to get help.

It was learned later that Stone's bullet struck the wall at the left of the door, penetrated it and the restroom wall and tore through the back end of a flightlight the intruder was holding, apparently striking him in the hand or arm.

Fired At Fleeing Man

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

By Mrs. W. H. Wells

Jan. 10—The first meeting in the New Year of our Ladies Aid was held in the Fellowship hall Thursday, Jan. 3, at 2 p.m., with Mrs. Grace Adkins in charge of the program. Taking for her subject "Making Religion Real Through Prayer," articles were read on the subject by Mrs. Adkins and Mrs. Luther Blair. Josephine McGuire gave an interesting talk on the many resolutions we make each new year. Members were asked to pray for our work and most responded with an earnest plea for help in being better Christians. One prayer was read from Mrs. Stella Fannin who is in Florida. During the business period the president was in charge. Each member responded to the roll call by giving a verse of Scripture. Mrs. Oscar Caskey and Mrs. Josie Caskey served angel food cake and spiced tea to the following: Josephine McGuire, Mrs. Henry Perry, Mrs. Grace Adkins, Mrs. Lula Arnett, Mrs. J. Ryan Nevius, Mrs. Luther Blair, Mrs. Oscar Caskey, Mrs. Josie Caskey, Mrs. Tom Wells, Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. Ezra Wells, Mrs. Katie McClain, Mrs. W. H. Wells, Mrs. Mary Davis, Mrs. Archie McClain, Mrs. Nanette Lewis, Mrs. Clifford Elam and Rev. Nevius.

At a group meeting Saturday night in Fellowship hall, youth of the church prayed and planned for a sharing in the fellowship of other young people. For three months now the youth of Old Grassy and our church have joined each other in a program.

On Saturday night, Jan. 12, at White Oak Christian church a service by young people will be led by Gary Elam. Taking part will be Miss Jean Cline, pianist of White Oak, Danny McLain, Leonard Ruth, Mike Gevedon, Everette Long, Jimmy D. Fannin, Priscilla Ross and others.

For the Friday evening prayer service Rev. Nevius will discuss "Need for Silence." There will be choir practice for the recently organized group after the service.

Sunday morning worship service subject will be "Something For Nothing." Rev. Nevius' evening message will be "Necessity of A Future."

We were sorry to hear of Jimmy Fannin suffering a badly strained ankle. Jimmy is one of our faithful workers among the youth.

Your reporter for Church Notes is recovering from a fall and complications she received several weeks ago.

BAPTIST CHURCH

By Margaret Wallace

Jan. 6—It is well to take inventory of 1956. Let us take a look at some of the many things accomplished both materially and spiritually in 1956. First, nine were received into the church by baptism and many rededicated themselves to full time Christian service. A new parsonage was completed recently. A renovation project by the entire church with the Brotherhood as sponsor, was a very good job. This project was responsible for our new carpet, new pews and a bulletin board in front of the church was completed. Downstairs, assembly rooms, hallways and classrooms to mention, but we hope to see many more received into God's Kingdom and many more improvements in 1957.

Our Lottie Moon Christmas offering of $50 was doubled and over. We are proud to announce the amount was around $110.00. Junior G.A.'s met at the church Tuesday, Intermediate G.A.'s met with Helen and Treva Short at 3:30 Tuesday. The Sunbeams met Monday at the church.

Brotherhood met with Charles Black Tuesday at 7 p.m. A review of the past year's work was presented by Marvin Berry and projects for this year were discussed. Mrs. Laura McKenzie and Mrs. J. W. Cecil assisted Mrs. Black in serving the delicious refreshments to the 12 members.

W.M.U. quarterly meeting will be at Frenchburg Saturday, Jan. 12, for an all day meeting. All members that wish to go should be at the church around 8:30 and transportation will be furnished. All members are urged to attend. We have had the banner almost every time for the past few years. Let's keep up the good work.

Rev. Hullette's morning message will be "Making Religion Real" and his evening message will be "Learning From A Heathen Woman."

Rev. Hullette will continue the "Studies In Job" for prayer service Wednesday night.

In the New Year every thought, word and deed will be recorded. God's bookkeeper makes no mistakes.

MORGAN COUNTIES IN TUCSON, ARIZONA

Word from Rev. and Mrs. R. V. McClure, who are wintering in Tucson, Arizona, indicates they are enjoying the warm sunshine in the West. "We have been invited to so many different places here," writes Mrs. McClure.

"Some folks here take our home paper and read in it that we were here and came to see us. Tom Henry Caskey's widow, Kathleen, a niece and Justin Rowland live here, also Victor Wells, Willis Wells' son. He came to see us and invited us to his house."

"We spent New Year's eve with the Kathleen Caskey family and two other couples. Had scripture reading and prayer before leaving. Mrs. Ruth Jennings served so many different foods and the evening was enjoyed by all."

"We had Christmas dinner with a Mr. and Mrs. South. We also had a turkey dinner with my nephew and family, Herbert Gevedon. We go sight-seeing often. The mountains are beautiful and some of the higher peaks are covered with snow. The cactus are large and beautiful. Our sons Gene and Talmadge have been to see us, and we plan later to visit them and our daughter Olive."

"We appreciate the many cards and letters we received during the holidays. We miss our neighbors and would love to see every one, but I guess it will be a few months yet."

The McClures are residing at 2513 N. Sycamore, Tucson, Ariz.

PAUL GILLEY VISITS COUNTRY MUSIC CAPITAL

Paul Gilley, local country music representative and native of Maytown, recently returned from Nashville, Tenn., the capitol of country music. Gilley reports that sweeping changes are being made in the world of country music and that it is taking its rightful place as a major medium in the entertainment world.

While in Nashville, Gilley made arrangements to handle record promotion for a number of top artists, including Jim Reeves, Jimmie Dickens, Jean Shepard, Mimi Roman and others throughout eastern and central Kentucky and parts of Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia. The first record receiving promotion by Gilley was Miss Roman's recording of "Tonight, I Made You Mine." Currently, Jim Reeves' Victor waxing "Am I Losing You" is receiving top promotion and seems certain to become a hit song.

Being long associated with the management of talent on a local scale, Gilley also signed recently to handle the exclusive management of Mercury recording artists, Denver Duke and Jeffery Null, on a national basis. Duke and Null are well known as "The Men With Women Voices," and they offer a style that is unique and original. Their first record for Mercury, "Hank Williams Isn't Dead" and "Rock And Roll Blues" has been showing well throughout the country. They are guested on Grand Ole Opry and Wheeling's World Original Jamoree and introduced the numbers to many additional listeners.

Gilley, who organized the Elvis Presley Fan Club in Kentucky last year and headed it until last July, cancelled all his former artist contracts, with the exception of his two girl singers, Doris Lee of WMOR-Morehead, and Beverly Branson formerly of WOR-TV, Davenport, Iowa.

Songwriter Carter Gibbs of Hazel Green, who accompanied Gilley to Nashville, will handle the management reins for the two girls as well as his promising new singing discovery, Jess Stevens of Paintsville.

Mrs. Tom Henry Caskey, who is living at Tucson, Ariz., Route 8, Box 68, writes that she is now able to walk on crutches. Mrs. Caskey broke her hip some time back. She writes, "It is warm here most of the time, but during the winter the nights are cold. We are enjoying the McClures. We had a little New Year's eve get together and when Rev. McClure prayed I thought I was in West Liberty. Do you realize how much I enjoy the West Liberty paper. I know the price of pinto beans there and read every ad. Of course, my heart is in West Liberty. That is my home."

The Courier has received a number of requests for last week's Courier in which we carried the famous Hazelrigg Address. Mrs. W. A. Voiers of Vanceburg, Ky., ordered 10 copies of the address. Several of her Morgan county kinsmen were mentioned in the article.

"What a surprise when I opened the LVC yesterday," writes Mrs. Voiers. "Just what I wanted most—the Hazelrigg address. I am proud of your paper for republishing this historical feature. Send Dr. Clarke at U.K. a copy. Some time I will send you a picture of my grandfather, Peter D. Lykins, who came from Morgan county."

Mrs. Voiers is a noted lecturer and traveler. On Feb. 12 she will make her fourth address to the Vanceburg Woman's Club, in the form of an illustrated lecture on her travels in Italy and Spain.

Hazard in Perry county was named by men who served under Oliver Hazard Perry in the Battle of Lake Erie.

MOREHEAD WILL BE AREA FOCAL POINT FOR HIGHWAY DEPT.

(Rowan County News)

Now comes the announcement from Frankfort that the zone engineering office at Morehead will not only be kept, but its functions will be greatly expanded. Morehead will hereafter be in charge of all construction, plus engineering, design and other phases.

This means, in simple terms, that Morehead will be the focal point of the highway department in 21 counties of the area. Floor space in the present building may be more than doubled. Many desirable families in the higher income bracket will move to our town. Every day scores of people will come to Morehead about their highway problems. Designers and contractors will make Morehead their working point. All of which adds up to more business for our merchants.

We believe you will, within the year, read in this newspaper that a contract is being let for the long-sought but not-yet-obtained district state police barracks east of Morehead.

After visiting some of the senior classes, he said he found that very few seniors wanted to be teachers, and after talking with them about the reasons, he listed the following recommendations to make the teaching profession more attractive: better pay base for 12 months; better and more school rooms; more teachers, so that each teacher would not have more than 25 pupils; parent help in discipline; teaching should be a satisfying experience aside from salary.

if your husband had to do this today ...

... guess what he'd do tomorrow!

If your husband had to take down the family wash every time it rains — and then put it all back up — he'd soon buy an electric clothes dryer!

Since things don't work that way, why not explain your problem to him? Maybe he hasn't even thought about it!

explain ... how heavy wet clothes are, and how you have to wrestle them out to the clothesline, basketload after basketload ... week after week ... month after month.

explain ... how your back aches after you hang out the wash ... bend and straighten ... bend and straighten ... over and over and over again.

explain ... the nuisance of keeping up with clothespins, wiping clotheslines clean and tightening them when they sag.

explain ... how much smoother and fluffier each piece is when it comes from the dryer ... that some pieces such as towels don't even have to be ironed, and all can be ironed without sprinkling.

If you do, chances are you'll soon own a bright new electric clothes dryer. And he'll be just as proud as you when that clothesline comes down, to tell the world that your family is modern — Living Better Electrically!

SCHOOL NEWS—

VERY FEW SENIORS
DESIRE TO TEACH

(By Bernard E. Whitt)

A democracy without education is a prelude to a tragedy or a farce or both in government. The American public school system is our country's effort to give to all its citizens an equal opportunity. Education is the training in a school or institution with a view for right conduct and effective action. Its purpose is to prepare one for complete living. A teacher is one who instructs and guides and imparts knowledge. Without teachers we would have no schools. Next to the parent, the teacher is of greatest importance in training children or adults.

The development of great industries and machines which take the place of human beings, greater skills and training for the use of these machines has provided employment to millions of men and women in highly paid jobs. This has caused fewer men and women to desire to become teachers. I have wondered how the young people of today feel about teaching. I visited a class in West Liberty Monday composed of 42 people about equally divided between juniors and seniors in high school.

When a Cold Strikes
Strike Back with 100% Men-Tho-Sole
It's Liquid - 39¢ Bottle

I first asked them how many of them they would like to become teachers. The answer was one young lady who said she would. The second question was, What do you think you want to do? Thirteen wanted to be secretaries, six farmers, one a lawyer and one a doctor. Three wanted to be nurses. Several were undecided. Their reason for not wanting to teach: 31 wouldn't like it, five too low salaries, 32 thought it required too much time to prepare and go to college. Most of them thought the behavior and discipline problems were more worry for teachers than the instruction and teaching of the lesson. When asked what they would do for misbehavior they said they would talk to the student and then expel them from school.

Ezel School

At Ezel I visited with the senior class of 20 students taught by Otis Murphy, principal. He rode eight miles per day when a boy to attend school. He now has a master's degree. The class met in a small room upstairs in one of the buildings. However, they were so nice and interesting that I forgot about the room. In this class three want to be teachers, 3 factory workers, 1 lawyer, 2 doctors, 4 nurses, 1 veterinarian, 1 clerical, 4 undecided. Ten felt it took too long to prepare for a teacher and that the salary was too low. The class thought that in addition to the salary the gratitude and appreciation of their work and in later years to meet with pupils they had helped was worth something more than money.

One girl said she thought good teachers were happy in their work and smiled. She thought that sad looking teachers should do something else. The class discussed that not only is this true in teaching but in all work. Miss Mabel Parchman who is teaching her second year at Ezel thinks that the people are very cooperative and she enjoys an opportunity to teach the able. Miss Parchman is a graduate of Austin Peay State College in Clarksville, Tenn., and has attended other colleges. She taught in the public school in Houston county, Tenn., Roanoke, N. C., Lansing, Mich. and in Florida. She teaches 7th, 8th, and 9th year math and 8th history. She says her hardest problem is the large number in some of the classes. In one class she has 50. And the second problem is the retarded pupils.

The following are the seniors in Ezel high school—Roger Collinsworth, Fay Little, Johnnie May, Paul McGuire, J. C. Taulbee, Doyle Watson, Marilyn Bach, Barbara Cecil, Phoebe Cox, Bertie Ruth Fugate, Janice Helton, Betty Henry, Helen Lane, Arleen McKinney, Phyllis Motley, Arlene Nickell, Lois Nickell, Ruby Nickell, Ella Gage Vest.

Professional People
Self-Employed Now
In S. S. Coverage

If you are a self-employed lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, veterinarian, naturopath, or optometrist you are now building old-age and survivors insurance protection for yourself and your family just as other people who were already in work covered by the law. In fact, your net earnings for 1956, if they are as much as $400, will count toward social security insurance. You are required to report your earnings up to a total of $4,200 in a year for your first taxable year that ends after 1955. In most cases, this will be when you file your 1956 income tax return early in 1957. Bear in mind that this applies to you whether you work alone or in a partnership.

Lawyers make up the largest number of newly-covered self-employed professionals. As long ago as 1948, it was estimated that 140,000 out of the probably 170,000 lawyers in the United States were self-employed. Of course, social security isn't new to lawyers; they are already familiar with the insurance provisions of social security. They have had occasion to observe and study it in connection with the affairs of many of their clients. Moreover, because of the close relationship between legal practice and fields such as business management, real estate, finance, and politics, even before 1956, many lawyers had some earnings to their credit because they had done some work covered by social security. In addition, a great many lawyers came under social security as employees of other lawyers; others acquired military wage credits under social security during active duty with the uniformed services. Further information regarding the above may be obtained from the Social Security Administration District office, at 340 14th street, Ashland, Ky. Further information may be obtained when he comes to West Liberty every Wednesday at 11:30 at the court house. This service is free.

Town Journal Will
Discontinue Feb. 1

On December 27, Richard Babcock, president of Farm Journal, Inc., announced that Town Journal will be discontinued following publication of the February issue.

The basic reasons for the decision have a familiar ring to everyone in the publications business: "The combination of high and rising production costs together with an ever-increasingly competitive market for the advertiser's dollar has made the development of a new major competitive magazine almost prohibitively expensive."

Introduced only in March of 1953, the magazine will have more than 2,000,000 subscribers at the time of its discontinuance.

"Poke Bonnet" Inspires Homemaker
To Try Her Hand At Hat-Making

By Mary Brock Helton

My first introduction to a poke bonnet was at a church bazaar in Scotland.

Being well acquainted with the bleak and sunless climate of Britain, and having felt the fury of the biting winds of the North Sea, my conjecture was pretty accurate in surmising that the bonnet had arrived from some distant clime where warmth and brilliant sun walked hand in hand.

After living in the United States for more than 25 years, I am convinced that the poke bonnet gracing the church bazaar shelf was an alien from a territory seldom trod by city dwellers.

The more I gazed at the bonnet, the more enchanted I became. The late afternoon sun filtered through the stained glass windows of the church hall and caught the blue of the Madonna's robe and reflected and deepened the blue in the small forget-me-not print of the bonnet. A fine haze of dust stirred by the traffic rose from the floor and formed a halo around the bonnet. I walked around the stall and viewed the bonnet from the back. There it sat, smocked and ruffled and with ties long enough to circle my waist.

I had just emerged from a session with Zane Gray and his "Riders of the Purple Sage" and wanderlust was already at work in me. There in sight of the poke bonnet on the shelf I imagined myself heading across the Atlantic, on to the Middle West, crowned with the poke bonnet and ready for covered wagons, dust and all.

The farm woman of today has come a long way from the covered wagon and the poke bonnet. Old Dobbin, with his straw hat adorned with cornflowers and roses, has been relegated to the barn and the fields to graze. The farmer's wife has taken the poke bonnet and folded it away among the scented lavender of yesteryears. The farmer's wife has come into her own. She takes trips of international scope, attends meetings of national importance in the development of rural life and education. To do this she must be smartly dressed. She operates on a budget, but she must compete with the big city. She sits side by side with smartly groomed women adorned with creations of Lily Dache and Mr. John. How can it be done? I'll tell you. Just watch your local paper for the next Homemakers meeting in your vicinity. The Homemakers project for February, March and April? You guessed it. Hats, hats and more hats! Originals, all sizes, shapes and forms.

Start right now and make a date to be at the February meeting and learn the secret of hat-making. Make a hat just as enchanting as the poke bonnet I bought years ago at a church bazaar in Scotland.

Mount Washington was a community on the stage turnpike from Louisville to Nashville as early as 1800. The settlement was first known as The Crossroads, then as Mount Vernon; finally, by order of postal authorities, Mount Washington.

BANK ROBBERY

the bank, went some 60 feet down a side street beside the bank to Main street and was starting for the hotel across the street when he saw someone crossing the street ahead of him and fired at the figure.
He hurried to the hotel and phoned Sheriff Little, who was talking with two visitors, Frank Adams and Ed Graham, at his home. All three hurried to the area and with Stone, who was clad in his underwear and an overcoat, surrounded the bank.
Then a man darted from an alley and was crossing Main street when Adams fired at him with his shotgun. The fugitive did not stop but turned down Johnson street.

Bandits Return Fire
Stone and Little gave chase, but as they rounded the corner at Johnson street they were fired upon by an automatic weapon. Stone saw a car parked with its lights on and motor running near the Johnson street home of George Hutton and realized the machine gun was being fired from that direction. "I emptied my gun at the car," he said.
Then, he continued, the sheriff "went down. I ran to his side and he told me he was shot. I asked for his gun, saying mine was empty. He said he had lost his. As I raised him from a kneeling position I saw a rifle coming at me. I didn't have time to dodge it."

Stone said the blow from the gun stock knocked him flat, and as he tried to rise he was clubbed again.
Stone wore a large bandage over his forehead after being treated by a physician. Graham and Adams went to Little's aid as the gunmen escaped in the car.

A huge posse made up of citizens, officers of Wolfe and neighboring counties began scouring the hills near Campton and just before daybreak found an abandoned car, a green 1952 Chrysler, near Mary, on Devils Creek road. One of the rear tires was in shreds from bullets, possibly.

State Police Lt. W. O. Newman, who took over the direction of the search, said its front end had been jacked up, possibly in an attempt to turn around. There was a bullet hole in the trunk of the car believed to have been made by Stone's pistol.
Inside the car were found the acetylene torches, Oklahoma license tag and tarpaulin mentioned earlier in the story. A Federal Bureau of Investigation officer who arrived here early Sunday afternoon said the possibility of an Oklahoma connection was being checked.

The search was intensified at 9:00 a.m. Sunday morning when Supt. Taylor Booth reported that he had been held up at gun point on the Wolfe County high school grounds and his auto taken from him. He says there were two men, one of whom was wounded. Booth said he had become suspicious when he saw a man whom he did not know come down off the hill on which the school house is located as he was driving back home after going to town for the morning paper about 6:00 a.m. Then he said a neighbor reported she had seen a desperate looking character who was bald headed with blood on his forehead. He reported the incidents, then while he was eating breakfast he decided he would investigate the school buses which are kept parked on the hill when not in use, beside the school building, about 8:00 a.m.

At the second vehicle which he checked, he said, "As soon as I opened the door a man in the back was bending low, talking and looking at me over a gun which he held in his left hand and leveled it at my face. The man climbed down out of the bus," Booth said, then the conversation went something like this:
The man: "I am sorry mister, but you've got yourself in a peck or trouble."
Booth: "Why, what's the matter?"
The man: "We're in trouble; our lives depend on getting out of here safely. You've found us and will tell the police—you will have to go with us in that car." (Booth's)

Booth: "There is my car, leave me here. If you won't shoot me, I will stand in my tracks until you get out of sight."
After some more conversation along this line, the bandit warned Mr. Booth to face south and stand where he was. Then he asked, "Did you see anybody except me when you looked in the bus?" Booth replied: "No, I've scarcely seen you."

The man replied, "In the game of cops and robbers, it is not safe to leave witnesses behind to tell the police." The man moved back to the bus while talking. Then Booth said he warned him not to move. He said he thought the man got back into the bus, for then he heard him ring someone out of it and put them into the car. He was warned again not to move, then the man got into the car himself, asked and was told by Booth how to start the car. Then he drove away and Booth says he watched the car until it was out of sight.

While the transfer of the man from the bus to the car was being made, Booth said he heard the groans of someone, apparently wounded and suffering.
Later, officers found a blood soaked shirt and pair of bloody sweat rousers in the bus. A large amount of blood was also found where a man had been wounded by Stone in the rest room at the bank and the front seat of the Chrysler was blood stained. A blood saturated cap was found outside the bank rest-room window.

The car stolen from Booth was a 1949 Chevrolet.

At the bank, where the intruders had gained admittance to the rest room by removing a steel grating and breaking a window, Cashier Charles E. Lindon reported nothing had been missing.

Early Monday morning, a posse led by Constable Johnny Combs and made up of Hendrix Allen, Tip Dunn, Riley Harris and a Graham man, captured a suspect at Pine Ridge. He gave his name as Don Scott and he also had papers on him made out to Paul Scott. He had spent the night at a home on Pine Ridge. A neighbor woman gave the police a tip that a suspicious looking character was out there at the home of some of her neighbors. He had been wounded on both legs and on the head. When the posse went out to investigate he gave himself up. He was unnamed.
Then on Tuesday, John Paul Scott and Morris were found hidden and shivering in a fodder shock on the farm of Harold Alexander about seven miles from Campton on the Sky Birdge road. They emerged from their hiding place to face the leveled guns of a posse of farmers, F.B.I. agents and State police.

Both In Bad Shape
Both men were in bad physical condition. Scott was suffering from gunshot wounds in the mouth, neck and right arm, apparently inflicted during a gun battle that followed the robbery attempt on Farmers & Traders Bank in downtown Campton. Morris' feet were severely frost-bitten.

Both men were taken to Good Samaritan Hospital here after having been given emergency treatment at Maddox Clinic in Campton.
Along with Donald R. Scott, brother of John Paul Scott, they were named in federal warrants charging burglary, issued by U.S. Attorney Henry Cook.

John Scott and Morris surrendered without resistance.
They handed over to officers a submachine gun, a loaded clip containing 45-caliber submachine bullets, and a fully loaded 38-caliber pistol. A 22-caliber pistol later was found secreted in another shock of fodder about 50 yards away.

An F.B.I. agent said the men were hardly able to comply when he ordered them to "come out peacefully, if you know what's good for you."
"Alexander called to the rest of us, who were about 25 yards away at the time," the F.B.I. agent said. "We surrounded the shock, not knowing whether the men were inside, and I shouted out the order to surrender."

Scott crawled out and "it was obvious that he was in bad physical shape. He wasn't able at first to tell us whether there was someone else inside the shock."
"We called out again for anyone inside to surrender. After no answer, we kicked over the shock. Then Morris arose from underneath the toppled shock and crawled out."
"The condition of his badly frostbitten feet wouldn't permit him to walk. Underneath the shock were the submachine gun, the clip, and the pistol. We found the 22 pistol in a shock that Morris pointed out. He admitted it belonged to them."

'Afraid To Give Up'
Asked by the officer why they didn't "give yourselves up," the agent quoted the men as replying:

"We were afraid the posse would kill us. When we learned that the F.B.I. had taken over, we felt less afraid, but we were still afraid to give up."

The agent said Morris had milked a cow in a nearby field "at least twice" in order to get some food for himself and Scott. The "wouldn't have been able to hold out much longer, as both were in pretty bad shape when we found them," said a Wolfe county deputy sheriff.

The posse went to the farm area off Sky Bridge road, where they discovered an abandoned automobile—the one the bandits stole from Supt. Booth.

On Wednesday, searchers found a submachine gun in a field on the farm of Mrs. Dollie Taubee off the Devils Creek road. It was lying about 25 feet from the road. Officers believe it is the one the bandits used in shooting Sheriff Little. The machineguns were stolen from an armory near Danville, it was learned.

Officers have surmised this plan used by the bandits. They left one auto (the Chrysler) in Campton and another one (a 1956 Chevrolet), parked on the Pine Ridge road about six miles from Campton. It was the latter they planned to use in fleeing the state.

However, early Sunday Corbett Pelfrey, a mechanic in the Charley Murphy Garage, went out the road on his way to Salt Lick. He knew of the attempted bank robbery. And when he came upon the parked 1956 Chevrolet, he removed the rotor in the distributor and had Buster Henry, postmaster at Pine Ridge, to call back to the garage. Garagemen came and towed in the getaway car. When the compartment was opened, the bill of sale made out to Don Scott was found. From then on officers knew whom to look for.

Harold Alexander suspected John Paul Scott and Morris were in the fodder shock on his farm when he noticed bits of hay leading from his barn to the fodder shock. It later proved that during Monday night Morris had carried some hay from the barn to the shock to help keep them from freezing.

About 25 farmers were in the posse that captured John Paul Scott and Morris.

Inside the bank officers found a smashed flashlight, apparently struck by one of the slugs fired by the bank night watchman. Also in the bank were a tank of oxygen and an acetylene torch. Also found was a bloodstained cap, a 5-gallon can of sand, several large bags, a small pick ax and a parka-type Army coat containing two magazines of submachinegun ammunition.

Booth said he found a blood-stained shirt and some men's undershorts inside the school bus. The robbery attempt and gun battle had the flavor of a television thriller. It started when Daniel B. Stone, 22, the night watchman at the bank, located directly across the street from the Wolfe county courthouse, was awakened by the sound of "glass falling from a window" in a rest room at the bank.

Stone, a clean-cut young man who served three years as a paratrooper, had been hired by bank officials to guard the bank. He slept in a small room between the front of the bank and a conference room at the rear. The rest room is adjacent to the conference room.
In recounting events of the attempted robbery and the gun battle, Stone told a reporter:

"I always sleep with my pistol (a 9 mm. Luger or P-38) where I can reach out and put my hand on it from my bed. You know this bank was robbed in December, 1955, and once before that."
(On December 20, 1955, burglars escaped with $2,040 in silver after failing in an attempt to open a big safe containing about $122,000 in currency.)

"I retired about 11 p.m. and hadn't been in bed more than 2 hours when I hear a noise like falling glass in the rest room. I opened my door and saw the rest room door move open a little. Then it closed a bit."
"When it opened a little again, I fired in the direction of the opening, as I could see light above it from lights outside the window broken by the gunman in affecting an entrance to the rest room."

"I heard a thud like someone falling to the floor and then heard a man groan. I ran to the side door, about 12 feet away from the rest room door and went to get the sheriff (George Little)."

On the way I shot at someone in the street as I ran to the hotel to call for the sheriff.

He (the sheriff) came and brought along Deputy Sheriff Frank Adams and Ed Graham (who were visiting him at the time). We surrounded the bank. Adams fired his shotgun at a man who ran across Main street (located a short block from the bank).
"The man ran on down Johnson street. The sheriff and I followed."

"When we started around the corner, I heard the chatter of some kind of gun and I said to myself, 'Where are all those shots coming from?'"

"I noticed they were coming from an automobile parked near by with its engine running. I knew then that it was a machine gun. I fired several times point-blank at the car, as I could see the figure of a man behind the wheel."

"About that time the sheriff fell. Shots had seemed to come from every direction. One of the men was firing wildly. My pistol clicked empty. I crouched down beside the sheriff and he told me he was shot. I said, 'My pistol's empty. Give me yours.' He said he had lost his."

"About that time I saw someone take a swipe at me with a dark object and I was really fuzzy in the head after he hit me with it right over the eyes. He drew back to hit me again, and I saw it was a machine gun. He missed me the second time."

"I had a lot of blood running down in my eyes, but I started for help for the sheriff. Adams and Graham came and helped the sheriff as best they could for the time being."

After being treated for a long laceration on his forehead by a private physician, Stone aided U. S. State and county officers in efforts to locate the other men involved in the attempted robbery and gun battle.

Ray L. Faist, special agent in charge of the Louisville office of the F.B.I., directed nine other agents in the investigation of the case.

State Police Lt. William O. Newman was in charge of a detail of some 20 State policemen. County officers worked under direction of Deputy Sheriff Adams.

MORE BULLET HOLES, BLOOD AT CAMPTON—The big circle at left marks a blood-stained spot where Sheriff George C. Little of Campton fell Sunday morning after being shot through both knees by bandits armed with one or more submachine guns. Smaller circles show where three bullets struck the parked car at the street's edge and a fourth—or one that hit the car—struck the door of the building at left. The bank which the bandits attempted to rob is located about two blocks away, to the right of the courthouse whose top is visible in the picture. (Lexington Herald Photo.)

All Have Prison Records

Ray Faist, special agent in charge of the Louisville office of the F.B.I., released this background information on the Scott brothers and Morris:
John Paul, 30, and Donald Rodrick Scott, 28, have been convicted twice on armed-robbery charges, both times in Texas.

On February 10, 1951, they escaped after robbing the Prosper State Bank, Prosper, Texas. Amount of the loot was not known.

In May, 1951, they blew open a post-exchange safe at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas, and escaped with about $10,000 in cash. They were apprehended shortly after at Sherman, Texas.

Began Terms In 1951

Both were convicted in the Wichita Falls case in a State court in 1951 and began serving five-year terms at the State Penitentiary at Huntsville, Texas.

Also, in November, 1951, they were convicted in United States District Court at Texarkana, Tex., in the Prosper robbery.

However, their five-year federal terms were suspended in favor of the State sentences.

The two were released from Huntsville Prison May 14, 1954. Since that time they had been employed as medical technicians.

The Scotts, natives of Willisburg in Washington county, at one time lived at Springfield, Ky. However, John Paul's most recent address was Leitchfield and Donald's was Liberty, Casey county. John Paul Scott had lived in West Liberty until about five months ago and was employed as a medical technician here.

Morris Also Twice Convicted

Like the Scotts, Morris, 36-year-old native of Antlers, Okla., has been convicted twice of armed robbery, both times in Texas.

On May 11, 1951, Morris hitchhiked into Collinsville, Texas, where he alone robbed the Collinsville State Bank. He fled on foot with about $4,000 in cash, but less than an hour later surrendered to a citizens' posse.

In June, 1951, he was convicted in the Collinsville case in a State court, and, in view of a previous armed-robbery conviction, received a 10-year sentence at Huntsville Prison.

Since he was paroled in September, 1953, he has been employed as a painter in Oklahoma. Morris, who is single, at one time served in and was honorably discharged from the Army.

When the site was selected for the Bath county seat in 1811, the land was owned by Richard Menifee and Col. Thomas Dye Owens, each of whom wished to bestow his name on the new town. It was decided to name the village for the man who erected the finest residence in the shortest time. The honor went to Owens and the town became Owensville.
